...vous

...siness and sleeplessness are usually due to the fact that the nerves are starved on properly nourishing blood; they are starved nerves. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes pure, rich blood, and thereby the nerves are properly nourished and all the organs of the body are run as smoothly as machinery which runs in oil. In this way you feel clean, strong and strenuous—you are toned up and invigorated, and you are good for a whole lot of physical or mental work. Best of all, the strength and increase in vitality and health are lasting.

The trouble with most tonics and medicines which have a large, booming sale for a short time, is that they are largely composed of alcohol holding the drugs in solution. This alcohol shrinks up the red blood corpuscles, and in the long run greatly injures the system. One may feel exhilarated and better for the time being, yet in the end weakened and with vitality decreased. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery contains no alcohol. Every bottle of it bears upon its wrapper The Badge of Honesty, in a full list of all its several ingredients. For the druggist to offer you something he claims is "just as good" is to insult your intelligence.

Every ingredient entering into the world-famed "Golden Medical Discovery" has the unanimous approval and endorsement of the leading medical authorities of all the several schools of practice. No other medicine sold through druggists for like purposes has any such endorsement.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" not only produces all the good effects to be obtained from the use of Golden Seal root, in all stomach, liver and bowel troubles, as in dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, ulceration of stomach and bowels and kindred ailments, but the Golden Seal root used in its compounding is greatly enhanced in its curative action by other ingredients such as Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Bloodroot, Mandrake root and chemically pure triple-refined glycerine.

"The Common Sense Medical Adviser," is sent free in paper covers on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of mailing only. For 31 stamps the cloth-bound volume will be sent. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Nasal CATARRH

In all its stages.

Ely's Cream Balm

Cream Balm is placed into the nostrils, spreads over the membrane and is absorbed. Relief is immediate and a cure follows. It is not drying—does not produce sneezing. Large Size, 50 cents at Druggists or by mail; Trial Size, 10 cents.

THE POWER OF STEAM.

Many May See But It Takes Genius to Realize.

When James Watt saw the steam causing the kettle lid to jump up and down he said "There must be power in that steam that it can lift such a weight."

There was.

Millions prior to him had seen the same phenomenon and regarded it as an unexplained mystery.

Recent scientific research has put its finger on the "cause" of Dandruff, Falling Hair, and consequent Baldness, and has unearthed a tiny germ which eats the life from the roots of human hair.

Two sizes—50 cents and $1.00.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, it uniformly cures all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

HICKS FOR MARCH.

A regular storm period is central on the 4th, covering the 2nd to the 7th. This period will begin with falling barometer and rising temperature in western sections, followed quickly by cloudiness, rain and electrical storms on and following the 2nd. Before the end of the period, say from the 4th to 6th, rain will turn to snow in all central to northern sections, with high barometer and decided change to colder, pushing closely the western side of storm areas and spreading to most parts of the country, causing frosts and freezing from about the 5th to the 8th, progressively, of course, from the west to the east and south.

A reactionary storm period falls centrally on the 9th, 10th and 11th. This second storm period the present month culminates on the 11th, and marked perturbations in the earth and atmosphere will show themselves on and about this date. Earth currents, auroral lights, especially far to the northward, and vicious electric storms in the south are among the things natually to be expected.

A regular storm period is central on the 15th, embracing the 13th to the 17th. High temperature, low barometer and general unrest of the elements of earth and sky will culminate in storms and other phenomena from about Wednesday the 13th to Sunday the 17th. Volcanic and other seismic trouble will be most natural on and touching these days. Rain, wind and thunder storms southward, turning to snow, blizzards and much colder, northward, should surprise no reader of these forecasts, during and immediately after this period.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 20th, 21st and 22d. This period is exactly on the turn of the March equinox. It is within a few days of the center of the Jupiter period, and covered by the Mercury disturbance central on the 20th. The 20th, 21st and 22d are among the days of great storm possibilities.

A regular storm period extends from the 25th to the end of March. Within this last storm period for March we have the Mercury period central on the 25th, the Vulcan period central on the 27th, the Jupiter period central on the 29th with full moon on the 29th and noon on the celestial equator on the 30th. There is every reason to apprehend storms and other phenomena out of the ordinary at this period. It is one of the most critical times, in all probability, during the whole of the present Vernal equinox. Hurricanes on the south coasts and tornadoes in the interior, are possible and probable. This is a time when general seismic unrest will prevail, with volcanic outbursts and severe earthquakes in many parts of the globe. Such phenomena will reach a maximum, in all probability, from March the 26th to April 2nd, taking the 29th and 30th as the central days of greatest seismic possibility and activity.

Why pay 20c and 25 cents a can for Salmon when you can buy Argo for 15 cents? Nothing better.

Does Coffee disagree with you? Probably it does! Then try Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee. "Health Coffee" is a clever combination of parched cereals and nuts. Not a grain of real Coffee, remember, in Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee, yet its flavor and taste matches closely old Java and Mocha Coffee. If your stomach, heart, or kidneys can't stand Coffee drinking, try Health Coffee. It is wholesome, nourishing, and satisfying. If safe even for the youngest child. Sold by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, druggists.

Threats of Organized Labor.

The hissing of the United States flag and the lowering of the national emblem in response to the demands of frenzied union labor partisans, the singing of the Marseillaise by a great crowd in the street outside the place of assembly and the declaration of conservative labor leaders that force should be resorted to if necessary to free Moyer, Haywood, and Pettibone, were incidents of the first mass meeting of the Moyer, Haywood, and Pettibone Defense League in San Francisco yesterday afternoon, which was attended by more than 4,000 union labor men. Eighty-four labor unions were officially represented, many by their entire membership.

There is indignation in union labor circles over what is termed "the kidnapping of Moyer, Haywood, and Pettibone by Idaho authorities with the connivance of the governor of Colorado," and the fact that the leaders of the Western Federation of Miners have been held so long without trial.

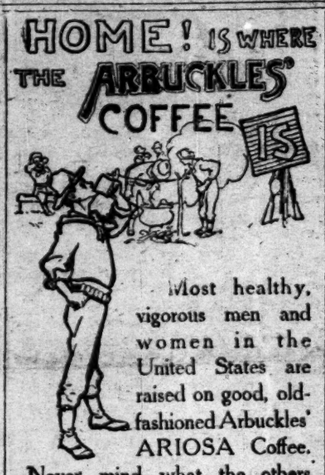
The assembly was an indignation meeting.

The speakers of the afternoon, without exception, made no attempt to veil the threat of force. The gist of what they all said was that if the capitalistic class broke the laws of the land to suppress the union labor movement and enslave American workingmen, they would go them one better in the matter of lawbreaking.

A resolution was passed by a unanimous vote in which the Mine Owners' Association and the capitalistic class in general was told that "if you pack the jury and attempt to judicially murder our brothers we will pack hell full of you."

Argo Red Salmon at all grocers. 15 cents a can. Try it.



Most healthy, vigorous men and women in the United States are raised on good, old-fashioned Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee. Never mind what the others drink, you want to be well. Say things to the man who tries to switch you from Arbuckles' to coffee that pays him big profits at the expense of your stomach.

The Limit of Life.

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment possible with the advanced knowledge of which the race is now possessed. The critical period that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60; the proper care of the body during this decade cannot be too strongly urged; carelessness then being fatal to longevity. Nature's best helper after 50 is Electric Bitters, the scientific tonic medicine that revitalizes every organ of the body. Guaranteed by E. S. Leadbeater, & Sons, druggists.

Prof. Moore Accused.

Representative Littlefield, of Maine, has prepared a report on the Department of Agriculture which has created a mild sensation. The most important discovery of Mr. Littlefield is that Professor Willis L. Moore, chief of the Weather Bureau, has "diverted" a sum amounting to $161,000 of government funds to the establishment of a "research institution" at Mount Weather, near Bluemont Va., popularly known as "Moore's summer resort," because it is a delightfully cool spot in the Blue Ridge, where the Weather Bureau officials find recreation and relief from the torrid summer weather of the national capital. The opinion of the Controller of the Treasury is that there have been loose methods of accounting and authority by which Mr. Moore was able to effect this diversion. It is shown, however, that the Controller's opinion was not rendered until after the "diversion" had been accomplished.

Mr. Moore has told the House Committee on Agriculture that it will cost $250,000 to complete the Mount Weather station and from $25,000 to $30,000 a year to maintain it. Mr. Littlefield suggests that, as the government has this affair on its hands, it should be completed, but only by the express authority of Congress. Mr. Littlefield's report so reflects on Professor Moore that it is regarded as probable by members of the House that the President will deem it wise to direct Secretary Wilson to get another "weather doctor" to complete the work.

It's a pleasure to tell our readers about a Cough Cure like Dr. Shoop's. For years Dr. Shoop has fought against the use of Opium. Chloroform, or other unsafe ingredients commonly found in Cough remedies. Dr. Shoop, it seems, has welcomed the Pure Food and Drug Law recently enacted, for he has worked along similar lines many years. For nearly 20 years Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure contains have had a warning printed on them against Opium and narcotic poisons. He has thus made it possible for mothers to protect their children by simply insisting on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Sold by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, druggists.

Many sufferers from nasal catarrh say they get splendid results by using an atomizer For their benefit we prepare Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Except that it is liquid it is in all respects like the healing, helpful, pain allaying Cream Balm that the public has been familiar with for years. No cocaine nor other dangerous drug in it. The soothing spray relieves at once and cure is certain. All druggists 75c, including spraying tube, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren Street, New York.

MONDAY EVENING, MAR. 4, 1907.

THE STRENUOUS and shady methods by which the House leaders jammed the ship subsidy bill through that body Friday was of no avail, for the Senate democrats were prepared at once to talk the measure to death even if they had to maintain a continuous flow of speeches from the hour the Senate met yesterday until the final fall of the gavel at noon today. They made the republican leaders aware of their determination Saturday afternoon, and the latter knew there was no hope for the bill, but they made a show of trying to force a vote on on it for effect. Some of the democratic Senators who do not believe in filibustering as a general rule of parliamentary conduct, felt they were justified in resorting to a filibuster in this instance because of the means by which the bill was put through the House. They say the House leaders broke pairs, took advantage of the absence of democratic members and otherwise resorted to discreditable practices in order to turn their first defeat into a victory. Moreover, Senate democrats regarded the proposed legislation as of such a vicious tendency that they felt it their duty to the country to adopt any legitimate means of defeating it. The bill as it stood did not amount to much, but they knew the republicans were anxious to secure its passage at this time as an entering wedge for a measure of a wider scope in the future. Senator Carmack led the filibusters, being ably abetted by Senators Dubois, Newlands, Overman and others, all frankly confessing their intention to hold up the bill and all talking on subjects that had nothing to do with it. This morning the republicans admitted defeat and withdrew the bill. No better work was done by the democratic Senators during the session than the defeat of the ship subsidy bill.

LONDON ON Saturday voted municipal ownership a failure, the reformers obtaining a majority in the election of the county council. For several years the socialists had control of the county council and were running wild with the expenses of the city, a very small part of which they paid themselves. The taxpayers, after bearing their burden with forbearance, if not with Christian fortitude, finally took matters in their own hands and wiped the socialists, with their municipal ownership humbug, off the face of the earth. What was said to be one of the greatest ratepayers' demonstrations in London in many years occurred a few days before the election, when several thousands marched through the streets to Trafalgar square, where a mass meeting was held to protest against further municipal ownership experiments on the part of the London county council. The procession, which was more than a mile in length, included many unique features intended to cast discredit upon the municipal industries. The meeting adopted a resolution stating that "this mass meeting of London ratepayers indignantly protests against the increasing burden of rates, caused by the progressive socialist party, and pledges itself to exert every effort to turn the wastrels out on March 2 and place in power the party of municipal reform." This was accomplished most effectually and London's example should be followed in every other city in the world where socialists and the municipal ownership craze have secured a foothold.

AFTER A long and useful career as judge of this judicial circuit, Judge Charles E. Nicol today sent his resignation to Governor Swanson. He will retire from the bench to begin an active canvas for the seat in Congress made vacant by the recent death of Hon. J. F. Rixey. Friends of Judge Nicol all over the district urged him to remain on the bench, or, at least, not to resign until after the nomination of a Congressional candidate had been made, but, as before stated in the Gazette, he thinks it best to resign by reason of his conviction that the judiciary should be kept apart from politics. Judge Nicol succeeded Judge James Keith as circuit judge years ago when the latter became a member of the Court of Appeals, and while a number of popular, esteemed and able jurists have filled the position, none has been more acceptable to people of all classes throughout the district than has Judge Nicol. Possessing the natural ability for such a post, he has given it his undivided attention, and his rulings have always been on the lines of wisdom and equity. Carefully studing each case in all its details, his decisions have generally been such as to appeal to all fair-minded people. His retirement will, therefore, be regretted throughout the circuit by all who have had business with the court over which he has presided.

THERE retired from the democratic side of the Senate today four men whose places it will be hard to fill—Blackburn, Berry, Carmack and Dubois—and that they will be sorely missed is admitted on all sides. They are all brainy men who have served their States and the country well and that the men who will succeed them will measure up to their standard can hardly be expected. Democrats, it is true, will take the places of the three first named, but it will be years before they gain the experience of their predecessors and for a long time their influence will be little felt. That their States made mistakes in making the changes is generally feared, but all good democrats hope for the best. Mr. Dubois was defeated by a republican and the change could not be helped. But should Idaho again be carried by the democrats his return to the councils of the nation may be fully expected. Death, the recent senatorial elections and other unfortunate occurrences have left but few men on the democratic side of the Senate chamber fitted to be the leader of that august body.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, March 4.

The House did an unprecedented thing today in order to honor Mr. Grosvenor, the retiring Ohio republican who has served twenty years in Congress and for years has been a House leader. At eleven o'clock the House took a recess for fifteen minutes. The members were called together informally by Representative Tawney, who called upon Representative Cushman, of Washington, to speak. He told of Gen. Grosvenor's ability, his preserved powers and particularily his accurate memory. He then presented the general on behalf of the House a mahogany casket filled with three hundred pieces of silver, "old English design, but of American workmanship". Mr. Clark and Mr. Williams followed in the same strain. Mr. Grosvenor made fitting reply.

Former Congressman William H. Sowden, who represented the Tenth Pennsylvania district in the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses, died at his home in Allentown yesterday, aged 66 years. He was a democrat of the Samuel J. Randall type and voted against the Morrison and Mills bills. President Cleveland punished him by vetoing the Allentown public building bill, giving notice that "there was an Allentown for every Sowden." Cleveland was denounced in every quarter of the land and Sowden was immortalized by Major William McKinley in one of the best speeches the latter ever made.

George B. Cortelyou left the office of Postmaster General this afternoon to become Secretary of the Treasury, and Leslie M. Shaw, who has managed the monetary affairs of the government for five years, retired to private life. Tomorrow morning Mr. Shaw will be found at his desk, as president of the Carnegie Trust Company in New York City. All the clerks and officials of the Treasury Department called upon Mr. Shaw to say good bye. In the afternoon, at 4 o'clock, Mr. Shaw was presented with a magnificent solid silver dinner service by the heads of bureaus and chiefs of division who gathered for that purpose at the Arlington Hotel. Internal Revenue Commissioner Yerkes made the presentation speech.

President Roosevelt arrived in his room at the Senate end of the Capital exactly at eleven o'clock. He was accompanied by Secretaries Root and Loeb and found most of the members of his Cabinet already waiting his arrival. After shaking hands all around the President proceeded to attach his signature to the few bills awaiting his approval While this was going on a number of senators heard of his arrival and they flocked in to shake hands with the Chief Executive and the Cabinet officers. Secy. Shaw was recipient of many sincere and hearty expressions of regret at his approaching retirement from the Treasury Department.

The officers of the "fertilizer trust" won a partial victory in the Supreme Court of the United States today when their appeal from the decision of the United States Circuit Court of Eastern Virginia dismissing their application for a writ of habeas corpus was upheld.

Archie Roosevelt, who is suffering from diphtheria passed a good night, according to Dr. Rixey, his attending physician, and is doing as well as can be expected today.

The President has signed the Aldrich financial bill, thus making it a law. It goes into effect immediately.

Rev John Bryan Williams, associate of the Episcopal Pro-Cathedral Church of the Ascension, died suddenly Sunday morning.

Socialists Routed.

Solialism suffered a decisive and overwhelming defeat Saturday at the hands of the London electors. The result of the county council election is the choice of 79 reformers, 36 progressives (progressive socialists), and 3 laborites. The last council consisted of 83 progressives, 34 modarates (now called reformers), and 1 independent. Never in a great community has there been such an extreme reversal of the popular will with regard to a party or policy. The progressives have controlled London for eighteen years, since the creation of the county council. From the outset they have engaged in a constantly broadening policy of municipal ownership, and it was this policy that formed the sole issue of the present campaign. London has now condemned and repudiated it in a decision so emphatic that its revival is impossible. The old council's record of extravagance, waste, mismanagement, deception by false accounts and general incompetence was perhaps the worst ever made by a public body, whose members were not accused of personal dishonesty and corruption.

As the result of one of the worst fires that has visited Chester, Pa., in years, and which destroyed the Hotel Arcade, at an early hour yesterday morning, one man is dead, one woman is dying, and several other persons, members of a threatrical company, are patients in Chester Hospital under treatment for burns and other injuries. The fire was attended by many thrilling rescues and escapes. There were 24 guests and the members of the family of Thos. Hargreaves, proprietor of the hotel, in the building when the fire broke out. So quickly did the flames gain headway that none of the guests had time to save any personal belonging, all escaping attired only in their night clothing.

CONGRESSIONAL.

The Senate on Saturday passed the general deficiency appropriation bill. The bill carries slightly less than $10,740,000. It was amended by the Senate by the inclusion of several provisions aggregating $800,000, among them the following:

To defray the expenses of the Senate and House of Representatives at the opening of the Jamestown Tercentennial Exposition, $7,000.

To reimburse Senator Reed Smoot for expenses incurred by him in defending his right to his seat in the Senate, $15,000.

The democrats prevented the passage of the ship subsidy bill by filibustering.

The session of the Senate Saturday night was devoted to eulogies on the late Representatives John H. Ketcham and Wm. H. Flack, of New York; Henry C. Adams, of Wisconsin, and John F. Rixey, of Virginia. Senators Daniel, Hopkins, Hemenway and Carmack delivered eulogies on the late Representative Rixey of Virginia.

At midnight the House passed the Aldrich currency bill as it came from the Senate by a vote of 160 to 72.

The House passed a bill providing that the street railways of the District shall not charge more than 3 cents for a single fare, permitting the companies to extend their tracks to the Union station, and making the smoke law applicable to steam roads in the District. The broad-tire amendment went out of the bill on a point of order raised by John Sharp Williams. It went to conference in this shape.

All the principal increases of the Senate to the appropriation bills were agreed to in conference.

The Senate's increased appropriations for the Geological Survey and Forestry Bureau were agreed to.

The omnibus claims bill was passed.

Conference report on the agricultural bill has agreed to.

The republicans lined up, with two or three exceptions, solidly for the Aldrich bill, the democrats being just as solid against it. Mr. Fowler of New Jersey explained the provisions of the bill and its needs were set forth by Mr. Powers of Maine and Mr. Prince of Illinois, who said that it was one of the best pieces of legislation enacted at this session. Mr. James of Kentucky said the bill was in the interest of Wall street and the money changers. Others in opposition were Mr. Lowis of Georgia and Mr. Williams of Mississippi.

Both houses held sessions yesterday and last night and when, about midnight, both took recesses till today at 9:30, the only important business up for consideration was the sixteen-hour bill and the ship-subsidy bill. The House had adopted the conference report on the sixteen-hour bill was voted on in the Senate as soon as possible after the session opened today.

The defeat of the ship-subsidy bill in the Senate was certain when a recess was taken the success of the filibuster inaugurated by the democrats, and led by Senator Carmack, being conceded. All the appropriation bills have been disposed of. All local items were eliminated from the sundry civil bill. At noon today the session, and with it the Fifty-ninth Congress, came to a close.

The Senate last night passed a House bill appropriating $100,000 for a memorial to Christopher Columbus to be erected in Washington.

The House yesterday voted against the Senate proposition to buy four tracts of land for public park purposes in the District. On a motion of Mr. Mann to recede from disagreement and concur in the Senate amendment, there were but 19 yeas and 145 nays, and the matter is again in conference.

The administration, and particularly Secretary Taft, won a victory when the House suspended the rules and passed the Senate's bill authorizing the Philippine government to guarantee 4 per cent dividends to stockholders in a bank established to loan money on agricultural lands in the islands. It was strongly opposed.

John Sharp Williams, the minority leader, closed the debate on the bill with a brief but pertinent reference to American colonization. Twelve democrats voted for the bill.

Chairman Tawney, of the House committee on appropriations, said last night that he estimated the appropriations of this session at a little in excess of $900,000,000.

Representative Livingston, ranking democratic member of the committee, said that his estimate was slightly less than a billion dollars, about $990,000,000, he believed.

Senate receded from amendment to pension bill abolishing agencies; bill passed finally,

A motion of Senator Hansbrough to take up the Washington union station street railway bill, with smoke amendment attached voted down and therefore for this session.

Senator Spooner Resigns.

Senator Spooner startled some of his colleagues about noon yesterday by quietly informing them that he had tendered to Gov. J. O. Davidson, of Wisconsin, his resignation as a Senator from that State, effective May 1. Later, his letter to the governor was given to the press, and the news became at once the principal topic of conversation at the Capitol, where both houses were in session, and in official circles generally. Senator Spooner, on retiring from public life, will devote himself to the practice of his profession.

He denied that he was to go on the United States Supreme Court bench, and stated that the report that he would be retained by the Hill and Harriman interests was without foundation. He expects to practice to some extent in New York, but will retain his home in Wisconsin.

Senator Spooner has served sixteen years and is one of the ablest constitutional lawyers in the State. He declares that he must now devote himself to private practice, and his determination to retire in May next is irrevocable.

A merger of six New York breweries that has been attempted several times in the past year is to be put through this month. The new concern is to be called the Central Consumers' Brewing Company, and the capital will be $12,000,000. Bernard T. Kearns, president of the Central Brewing Company, is likely to be president.

Only one man is believed to have been killed by the dynamite explosion at the Jersey end of the Pennsylvania Railroad tunnel and four persons were seriously hurt. The windows of 400 houses were blown out.

THE STROTHERS TRIAL.

Expert testimony which, it is claimed, will help materially in establishing the plea of emotional insanity, which has been raised by the defense, was given by two alienists, one of whom was presented in behalf of the State during the trial Saturday of Phillip J. and James A. Strother, charged with killing Wm. F. Bywaters.

Determined to offset any effect that the statement of Dr. Charles Clark, of the Government Hospital for the Insane, and an expert on all mental diseases, made in the interest of the Strother boys, might have on the jury, the attorneys for the prosecution decided to call an alienist of their own and presented Dr. N. F. Drewry, superintendent of the Central Hospital, Petersburg. Dr. Drewry is one of the best known authorities on mental diseases in the State and he gave a comprehensive explanation of mental diseases while upon the stand.

The surprising feature of his testimony, however, was that he not only did not strengthen the case of the Commonwealth in attempting to establish the fact that the minds of the defendants were not deranged at the time the killing was done, but it is claimed that enough was brought out before the jury to aid in no little measure the counsel for the defendants in proving that the Strother boys were suffering from an irresistible impulse when they shot Bywaters.

A good part of the afternoon session was taken up in a prolonged argument between the opposing counsel relating to the admission of rebuttal testimony tending to show the good faith in which Bywaters entered into the marriage contract with Viola, and which would tend to prove the condention of the State that Bywaters had no intention of deserting his wife and leaving the country, as was contended by the defense.

William Payne, a witness in rebuttal for the commonwealth, was called. The witness proceeded as far as the time of the meeting of Bywaters and James Strother on the day of the murder. Witness said that he had driven Bywaters from his home to the point where James Strother had meet him prior to Bywaters leaving for Rotherwood. At this juncture Mr. Moore, counsel for the defense entered an objection to this testimony, and, as the point was to be argued, he would request that the jury retire. When the jury had left the courtroom the attorney for the defense argued at length along the line that the testimony to be deduced was entirely irrelevant, inasmuch as it threw no light on the tragedy itself or upon the mental condition of the Strother boys.

Captain Woods, one of the counsel for the prosecution, made the contention that, as the defense had introduced evidence tending to impeach the good faith of Bywaters, the State had the right to bring in witnesses and to prove that the dead man was acting in good faith inhis promise to marry Viola and that he intended to remain with her and support her.

"We desire to show," remarked counsel for the prosecution, "that Bywaters was acting in good faith, and even prior to the wedding had mentioned the approaching marriage to several of his friends on the very day that he was shot. We will show that he told a friend that Viola would get some property when they were married, and that with this money he could procure a home and take care of his wife."

An attempt was made during the afternoon by the prosecution to introduce testimony showing that Bywaters in marrying his slayers' sister had acted in good faith. After a lengthy argument the court ruled out the testimony, declaring that even though Bywaters might have been "the worst man in the world," his character was not the issue on trial.

The prosecution attempted to show by the testimony of M. S. Remsburg that Philip Strother had been drinking three days prior to the tragedy. For the defense Rev. J. W. Hare, who married Bywaters and Miss Strother, flatly contradicted Remsburg.

Just before the adjournment of court, acting Prosecuting Attorney Keith scored a point by having a subpeona issued for E. L. Gaines, brother-in-law of the Strother boys. Mr. Gaines has not heretofore been summoned, and it is said that his testimony may throw additional light upon the tragedy. Mr. Keith also announced that Dr. J. I. Janette, of Staunton, an alienist, would be called on Monday.

Culpeper, Va., March 4.—Judge Grimsley, an uncle of Bywaters, was the first witness today and told of his meeting with Bywaters on the day of the marriage.

As Judge Grimsley was about to leave the stand he was asked about a telephonic conversation he had with some one at Rotherwood immediately after the shooting. Witness said the conversation as narrated by James was substantially true except as to the conclusion. James said Judge Grimsley dropped the phone receiver with an exclamation. The judge said he ended the conversation by telling James he was coming out with the sheriff to get him.

Clad in deep mourning with a heavy black veil over her face, Mrs. Bessie Triplett, a sister of Bywaters, took the stand. She said her bother left home about 3:15 o'clock on the day of the shooting and seemed to be in a great hurry. Witness was excused without cross-examination.

Edward L. Gaines was called.

"You was in the Rotherwood house on the night of the shooting?"

"Yes."

"Remember having a conversation with Bywaters about the responsibility for your sister-in-laws condition?"

"Yes."

"Who did he say was responsible?"

"He said he took the blame on his shoulders."

"How did you get Bywaters back after he had left his wife's room?"

"I pushed him."

"Who did the shooting?"

"James and Philip Strother."

"Did you see James run down stairs and fire from the yard?"

"Yes."

"Didn't you say before the coroner that you didn't see him?"

"I might have said that."

"Didn't you try to buy a pistol on December 15?"

Witness was about to answer in the affirmative when objection was made by Attorney Moore and the court sustained him. On cross-examination he said the window was down a few moments before the shooting and he thought it was down when the shooting was done. Mr. Gaines said he was of a very nervous temperant and much excited on the night of the tragedy.

This closed the State's case.

Fifty-ninth Congress.

Washington, March 4.

SENATE.

The Senate opened promptly at 9:30 this morning. Senator Carmack was in his seat, his desk piled up with books, and ready to proceed with his filibuster against the ship subsidy bill. He looked sleepy but determined. He did not object at all when Mr. Hale moved a recess to 10:15.

The ship subsidy bill is dead. The filibuster against it, which began in the Senate Saturday afternoon and continued with brief intermissions until midnight Sunday, came to an end without further contest after the Senate had reassembled at 10:15 a. m.

Mr. Carmack in direct charge of the filibuster, was in his place, his desk covered with munitions of war in the shape of public documents.

The Tennessee Senator arose smilingly, then with mock seriousness replied, "I am sorry that I must continue the debate."

Mr. Gallinger got the floor but gave way to Mr. Flint who asked and finally secured adoption of the conference report on the sixteen hour bill. After some delay the report was adopted by the vote of 76 to 0. The bill provides for not more than sixteen hours for train crews and nine hours for railway telegraphers.

Mr. Gallinger, announcing it as his privilege and duty, explained the features of the measure that had been talked to death. In concluding he declared that there would be an uprising of the people when they learned that the richest nation of the earth was lagging behind them in all its marine.

He declared he had no feeling of hostility toward those who had fought the bill. In taking his seat, he announced his abandonment of future efforts to press it and his intention of fighting for such legislation as long as he remained in public life.

Thus died the ship subsidy bill.

The Chair announced his appointment of the following Senators to attend the opening of the Jamestown Exposition April 26:

Daniel, Burrows, Martin, Foraker, Kean, Scott, Warner, Brandegee, Berry and Carmack.

Chairman Allison, of the appropriations committee, presented a detailed statement of the present Congress, aggregating $829,000,000. He estimated the revenue of next year at $1,850,000,000.

Mr. McCumber tried but failed to get the passage of a bill to pay to the heirs of Samuel Lee the salary he wasn't able to get as a representative from South Carolina, twenty-five years ago, because a filibuster by democrats prevented him him taking such oaths of office after he had been successful in a long contest.

Mr. Hale and Mr. Pettus were selected to wait on the President.

In response to the resolution offered by Mr. Blackburn and adopted by the Senate thanking him for the impartial way in which he had presided over the session of Senate, Vice President Fairbanks made a fitting reply.

The Senate adjourned at 12:13.

HOUSE.

When the House met for the last time in the 59th Congress, only a few members were in their seats. Senator Cannon was there with an especially strong gavel, to direct legislation. He called the House to order promptly at 9:30. One by one the representatives straggled, in.

A quorum not being present, the House concluded it would be a good thing to have a little talk, Mr. Champ Clark was given the floor for ten minutes. He spent the time more in defending his people against the charges of practicing peonage. He resented particularly publications in the New York Evening Journal on the subject, and arraigned its proprietor, Wm. Randolph Hearst, for these publications.

"I cannot let pass unnoticed such an attack on my people by a member of the House, whether on the floor or in his newspapers," said he. "I understand the member has not been in his seat on this floor more than 10 days during the 59th Congress, has said little on the floor, but much in his papers. I want to say that the people of my State are as law abiding, as God fearing as any in this country."

With only one quarter of an hour to run, Champ Clark was called to the chair. He recognized Mr. Williams who made a humerous statement to what the Congress had accomplished. He regretted first that the republicans had wasted so much good advice on the President and last that the democrats had wasted so much advice on the republicans. Then he branched out into an eulogy of Speaker Cannon saying that "nothing more genuine was ever built by the Almighty than Joe Cannon."

He thanked the Speaker for "active and gesticular manner in which he had presided over the House."

A resolution thanking the Speaker for the able and impartial manner he had presided over the House.

Speaker Cannon, with a salvo of applause greeting him was escorted to the rostrum. Democratic leader Williams, acting as spokesman, announced the Speaker's arrival by saying "In obedience to your instructions we have brought him in."

Mr. Payne, the republican floor leader, chairman of the House committee that had waited upon the President, to inform him that the House was ready to adjourn if he had no further message to submit replied that the President "had had enough of Congress" and desired to compliment the House upon the great work it has accomplished.

Three minutes before the hour of noon, Speaker Cannon, brought the House to order and addressed himself to the members thanking the members for their kindness in deeds and words during the session of Congress about to close, in doing which he recalled the labors and cares which have characterized it in the face of peculiar conditions. In closing he said: "And now, in pursuance of the requirements of the constitution, I declare the House of Representatives of the Fifty-Ninth Congress adjourned without day."

The speaker's gavel came down with a bang and the fifty-ninth Congress was a matter of history.

Upon the outcome of this case hang[illegible] the future disposition of seven other indictments returned against the oil company by two federal grand juries last August.

The indictment upon which the case is based contains 1,902 counts each, representing the shipment of a car of oil and covers a period from September 1. 1903, to March 1, 1905. Should the jury find the company guilty on each of the 1,903 counts, it would be possible for Judge R. M. Landis to fine the company from $1,903,000 to $38,060,000. The law provides a minimum fine of $1,000 and a maximum of $20,000 for each offense.

The Thaw Trial.

New York, March, 4.—There was the same eager, interested crowd of spectators in the court room when the trial was resumed as a result of the prospect that Mrs. William Thaw was to go on the stand.

Dr. Evans was the first witness called.

Jerome showed that he was not through with the insanity expert, when his corps of assistants came trooping in carrying the same heavy volumes of authorities of insanity which have been carried in daily since Dr. Evans's cross examination began.

The examination was on lines previously pursued by Jerome. Dr. Evans at different times avoided direct answers and the examination proved tedious.

The doctor's testimony can be summarized as follows: "At the time Thaw shot Stanford White the former was sufferang from one of the insanities of abolescene, and it is thought he had an insane knowledge of his action."

Red Flags in St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, March 4—Great crowds gathered at the railway station to say farewell to the departing delegates to the douma. Red flags were freely shown by the people. In many instances great bouquets of red roses were presented to the douma members and revolutionary literature was openly distributed among the crowds. For the most part the police made no effort to check the revolutionary demonstrations. Minor clashes occurred at other points due to local governors trying to prevent the deputies from making speeches.

Premier Stolypin has prepared a resolution expressing the douma's loyality to the Czar. If it is offered, there is little doubt the resolution will be rejected by a big majority resulting in a scandal.

Davis on Trial.

Danville, Ills., March 4.—Will J. Davis, manager and principal owner of the Iroquois Theatre, Chicago, in which nearly 600 persons lost ther lives Dec. 30, 1903, was placed on trial here today. The case came from Chicago on a change of venue. Davis is under indictment for involuntary slaughter. His principal culpability is said to lie in the fact that the iron doors of the play house were barred and no watchmen or ushers were by them to open them when fire started.

Accident to a Southern Railway Train.

Atlanta, Ga., March 4.—The Southern Railway passenger train No. 43, southbound, from Washington, collided with a freight at Howell's station, near here, early today, seriously injuring Mail Clerk Jacob Blodgett. He is a brother of the Atlanta postmaster.

Mysterious Explosion.

Kansas City, Mo., March 4.—A mysterious explosion at first thought to have been an earthquake, shook this city and Kansas city early today. Plate glass was broken in stores. The cause and place of explosion is not yet known.

Proposed Partition of Ottoman Empire

Berlin, March 4.—The Anglo French-Italian scheme for the partial partition of the Ottoman Empire at the Sultan's death is revealed today by the newspaper Welt. A part of the plan is to exclude Germany from participation in the division. The plan is for England to seize the western portion of Arabia from the Mediterranean to the Indian Ocean, converting the Rea Sea into an English preserve. France is to take Syria and Palestine and the other parts of Asia Minor. Tripoli and Albania are to be Italy's share.

The Hague Conference.

The Hague, March 4.—The coming conference of the powers at The Hague will accomplish nothing to further the cause of lasting peace. This is the opinion advanced by a prominent Hague official in an interview with a correspondent of the Publishers Press. He bases his belief on the report Prof. Martens, who has visited the various European nations to ascertain their views, will make to the Czar on returning to St. Petersburg this week.

Repeal a Civil War Bill.

Senator Pettus, who holds the age record among his associates, made a quaint speech in the Senate Saturday afternoon in favor of the bill repealing a law passed immediately after the civil war providing that no claim held by any southern citizens against the federal government prior to April 13, 1861, should be paid to any person who had been guilty of treason. Senator Pettus argued that this statute was abrogated and replaced by the President's amnesty proclamation of December 25, 1868, and said this opinion is now entertained by all lawyers.

He began by thanking the Senate for its uniform kindness and courtesy toward him. "The kindness of the Senate," he said, "has not been surpassed by that of my own people at home and the Lord knows that has been abundant." He apologetically observed that the Senate may be afflicted with him for eight years or more and hence he did not desire to trespass too much on its good nature. The bill was passed without further discussion.

Upon the outcome of this case hang the future disposition of seven other indictments returned against the oil company by two federal grand juries last August.

The indictment upon which the case is based contains 1,902 counts each, representing the shipment of a car of oil and covers a period from September 1. 1903, to March 1, 1905. Should the jury find the company guilty on each of the 1,903 counts, it would be possible for Judge R. M. Landis to fine the company from $1,903,000 to $38,060,000. The law provides a minimum fine of $1,000 and a maximum of $20,000 for each offense.

A young man named Daniel Bowers caused a panic among members of Grace Lutheran Church, Winchester, yesterday, by his queer actions during the services. Young Bowers entered the church while a hymn was being sung, walked leisurely down the center aisle, and after removing his overcoat and rubbers and throwing them away began to take an active part in the service. Later he announced that he intended to preach to young men on the subject of liquor-drinking and cigarette-smoking.

The Currency Bill.

Representative Carter Glass, of Virginia, has prepared and submitted to the House the report of the minority members of the committee on banking and currency in opposition to the Fowler asset currency bill, upon which a favorable report has been made. The minority report points out that there is no urgent need for the proposed legislation on account of there being no general business demand for it. It also declares that the effect of the proposed measure is to swell the already ample profits of the national banks, while it will fail to provide the desired elastic currency The banks now refuse to issue the circulation they are permitted

This report has to do with a bill that will not be voted upon by this Congress.

Mr. William N. Crump and Miss Susie Grimes, both of Alexandria, went to Rockville on Saturday to be married, but met with disapointment. In applying for a license the young man gave his age as nineteen. As this is two years under the legal age in Maryland, the license clerk asked him for the written consent of his parents, the law requiring this in case of minors. The young man failed to attend to this preliminary and the clerk refused to issue the license. The young folks expressed their intention of procuring the necessary permission and returning to Rockville to have the ceremony performed.

Work Allowed to Proceed.

As has been stated in the Gazette, the dock on the north side of the Mutual Ice Company's pier at the foot of Cameron street is being dredged for the purpose of accommodating large ice-laden schooners. The mud from the dock is being temporarily placed in an adjoining dock, the company having obtained permission from the War Department and the parties owning the wharf to do so. The city authorities, however, stopped the procedure this morning, but later allowed the work to go on, being assured by the Mutual Ice Company that it was a case of necessity, and that the mud would be removed during the next two weeks. The four-masted schooner Clara Donnell is now in the stream waiting to be docked.

Hearing Postponed.

The examination of witnesses in the case against the Washington, Arlington and Falls Church Electric Railway Company, which was to have been heard in Richmond Saturday before the State Corporation Commission, was postponed owing to the inability of Attorney R. Walton Moore, who represents the railway company, to be present. The hearing will take place March 8 in Richmond. It is expected that when the hearing is resumed Mr. C. E. Hinchman, secretary and treasurer of the road, will be placed on the stand again. The people living on the line of the road want it to render better service at lower rates. Lower rates on single and round trip tickets are demanded.

Funeral of the Late Mr Green

Among the floral tokens sent to the house of the late Wm McA. Green previous to the funeral yesterday afternoon from the residence, 711 King street, was a representation of a vacant saddle. Andrew Jackson Lodge of Masons, of which the deceased was a member, attended in a body, while representatives of other organizations with which the deceased had been identified were also present, with a large number of relatives, friends and acquaintances. The nurse started to cross the street and the little girl ran after her, and was struck by the buggy before the driver had time to stop the horse. Dr. Gorman rendered medical aid to the child.

Robert A. Wallace, a well-known contractor of this city, at an early hour yesterday morning went to the police station and alleged that he had lost $1,400 during the past few months by playing poker in a room in the second story of a building on King street, near Pitt. Lieut. Smith and Officers Young, Ferguson and Arrington proceeded to the place and arrested a young man, said to be the proprietor of the resort, and five others. The six men were required to leave collateral for their appearance in police court this morning. Wallace subsequently asked to be allowed to withdraw the charge, but his request was refused.

The case was called in the Police Court this morning. The defendants were present ready to answer the charge that had been brought against them, but Wallace could not be found. The case was continued until tomorrow, and orders issued to arrest the complainant for contempt of court.

The Weather.

Yesterday dawned bright and mild, but in a short time the wind came out from the northwest and the temperature fell considerably. The forest reserve proposition is one of the Speaker's pet aversions. He refused to permit a bill appropriating $3,000,000 to establish two eastern reserves to come before the House this session.

GOLDSMITH'S DEBTS.

Utter incapacity for managing his own money affairs had brought poor Goldsmith, not for the first time, to his last penny, and his landlady to the end of her stock of patience. It was in these circumstances that "The Vicar of Wakefield" was sold to pay the unhappy author's unpaid rent. Boswell tells us that one morning in 1764 Dr. Johnson received an urgent message from Goldsmith begging he would come to him as soon as possible, as he was in great distress. Johnson at once sent him a guinea and then went over to see his friend. He found Goldsmith much excited and in a violent passion because his landlady had arrested him for his rent. "I perceived," says the doctor, "that he had already changed my guinea and had got a bottle of madeira and a glass before him. I put the cork in the bottle, desired he would be calm and began to talk to him of the means by which he might be extricated." Goldsmith then produced the MS. copy of "The Vicar of Wakefield," lying in his desk ready for the press. Johnson looked at it, perceived its merits and thereupon took it to a bookseller named Newberry and sold it to him for £60. "I brought Goldsmith the money," continues Johnson, "and he discharged his rent, not without rating his landlady in a high tone for having used him so ill."—London Tit-Bits.

Monster Spider Crabs.

"I have collected specimens of crabs in all parts of the world," said a naturalist, "but I shall never forget the pleasure I experienced in securing a monstrous specimen of the Japanese spider crab, the largest ever found. The combined length of the feeding arms of this monster was more than twelve feet, while the body portion was about twenty inches across. When alive, it weighed about seventy-five pounds. One of the oddest things about these creatures is their ability to assume a disguise. This feat they are able to perform owing to the flexibility of their pinchers and to the hooked hairs and spines with which their numerous arms are studded. By means of their pinchers they tear off small fragments of sponges and seaweeds. After first putting these to their mouths, which contain a glutinous saliva, they place them on the surface of their limbs and bodies by sticking them fast with a rubbing movement. By this method the crab succeeds in completely changing its appearance and rendering itself indistinguishable from the materials common to the bottom of the sea. While crawling along it seems as though a portion of the ocean bed was in motion, so close is the resemblance."

Forests of Stone.

Stone forests are found in various parts of the world. In many cases they are hardened by some peculiarity of the atmosphere and are found standing just as they were when clothed with green foliage thousands of years ago. The Little Colorado river, in Arizona, has long been famous as a locality for such finds. At one place more than 1,500 cords of solid stone, tree trunks, sections, limbs and logs, were found by the government surveyors. Most of them were silicified, many seven to ten feet in diameter and from twenty to eighty feet in height. Geologists say that the petrified trees of the Little Colorado were once covered with marl over 1,000 feet in depth. Some of the trees have been changed to jasper and have assumed various hues; others resemble opal, and when broken open the core is often found lined with crystals of the most beautiful tints.
